As a frequent business flyer I don't see the need for this. I also don't want the added noise of people trying to talk over each other and the engine noise